

HUAYHUASH

8 DAYS

Connect with us

928726796

@highlands.xpeditions

highlands.explorere@gmail.com

Huayhuash trek

Recognized as one of the world's most beautiful treks, it captivates with majestic snow-capped peaks, crystal-clear lagoons, and unparalleled Andean landscapes.

HUAYHUASH – 8 days

Day 1: Huaraz – Cacanapunta Pass – Camp Janca

Hotel pickup at 4 AM, followed by a drive to Chiquian village (approximately 2 hours 30 minutes) where we'll stop for breakfast. After breakfast, we return to the vehicle and head to the trek's starting point.

8 km trek starting at Quartelhuain (4,150 mt), ascending to Cacanapunta Pass (4,690 mt), and then to Janca camp (4,200 mt) where we'll set up camp for the night.

Day 2: Views of Yerupaja – Paso Carhuac

12 km from Janca to Mitucocha (4,270 mt), then continuing through Carhuac Pass (4,630 mt) where we'll enjoy magnificent views of the snow-capped peaks: Carnicero, Yerupaja Grande, Yerupaja Chico, and Jirishanca. We then head to Carhuacocha camp (4,150 mt), where we'll spend the night facing Yerupaja Grande, Peru's second-highest mountain (6,635 mt), Yerupaja Chico, and Jirishanca.

Day 3: Viewpoint of the Three Lagoons – Siula Pass.

2 km from Carhuacocha to the viewpoint of the three turquoise lagoons: Grangacocha, Siulacocha, and Quesillococha. Then, we continue through Siula Pass at 4,830 mt and descend to Huayhuash camp at 4,330 mt.

Day 4: Trapecio Pass – Camp Cuyoc

10 km from Huayhuash to Trapecio Pass at an elevation of 5,000 mt, where we'll see the Trapecio and Los Cuyos mountains, before descending to our Cuyoc camp at 4,450 mt.

Day 5: San Antonio Pass – Siula Mountain

11 km from Cuyoc camp to the highest point of our trek, San Antonio Pass at 5,020 mt, where we'll see the face of Siula mountain where the movie "Touching the Void" was filmed. From there, we'll descend to Huallapa village at 3,660 mt. In this village, there is an optional, not included choice for clients to sleep in basic accommodation and enjoy a hot shower.

Day 6: Tapush Pass – Camp Gashpapampa

9 km from the town of Huallapa (3660 mt), we ascend towards Tapush Pass (4770 mt), where we will observe Lake Susucocha and to the east, the snow-capped peak of Diablo Mudo, before arriving at the Gashpapampa campsite (4600 mt).

Day 7: Yaucha Pass – Viewpoint Huacrish

10 km from Gashpapampa to Yaucha Pass (4800 mt), where we will see the peaks of Rondoy, Jirishanca, Yerupaja, Rasac, and Tsacra. From the pass, we head to the Huacrish viewpoint for a view of the Huayhuash mountain range, Lake Jahucocha, and Solterococha, before descending to our campsite at Jahuacocha (4170 mt).

Day 8: Camp Jahuacocha – Pampa LLamac – Huaraz

After breakfast, we'll head through Rondoy Pass, where we'll enjoy stunning views of the Jahuacocha and Solterococha lagoons. The hike takes approximately 3 hours, followed by a 2-hour trek to Quartelhuain, where our transport will be waiting to return us to Huaraz.

INCLUDE:

- Transportation
- Guide
- All meals (breakfast, lunch, dinner, and snacks)
- Equipment (comfortable mat, sleeping bag and tent)
- Donkeys and emergency horse
- Eco-friendly personal hygiene kit
- Water
- Duffel bag
- Garmin
- Entrance fees (90 USD for 8 days)

Price

850 USD

DOES NOT INCLUDE:

- Trekking poles
- Daily backpack

Why choose us?

We provide safety. In our expeditions, we are always accompanied by an emergency horse, communication radios for internal coordination, and Garmin devices to stay connected with our base in Huaraz in case of emergencies. We also carry emergency oxygen bottles to ensure your well-being.

Environmental commitment. In our activities, we strive to minimize our impact on the environment. Therefore, we provide our clients with eco-friendly personal hygiene accessories, such as soap and shampoo, that are environmentally friendly. We offer comfort. We provide balanced meals to keep you energized and comfortable throughout your expedition.

